

Blessings on Your New Home,

We wish for you a love that makes both of you better people, that continues to give you joy and a zest for living, and that provides you with energy to face the responsibilities of life and to serve life passionately and compassionately.

We wish for you a home, not just a place of stone and wood, but an island of sanity and serenity in a frenzied world.

We hope that this home is not just a place of private joy and retreat, but rather serves as a temple wherein the values of your life are generated and upheld. We hope that your home stands as a symbol of humans living in love and peace, seeking truth and demanding social justice.

We hope that your home encompasses the beauty of nature; that it has within it the elements of simplicity, exuberance, beauty, silence, color, and a concordance with the rhythms of life.

We wish for you a home of books and poetry and music; a home with all the things which represent the highest strivings for men and women.

Finally, we wish that at the end of your lives, you will be able to say to each other: "I am a better person because you have loved me, and because I have loved you. You, my Beloved, are my home!"
